Dear Scientist!

FORAMS 2022, the next International Symposium on Foraminifera, has been postponed to 2023 due to still ongoing pandemic conditions: therefore, it is now labelled as FORAMS 2023. The symposium will be held from June 26th to June 30th 2023.

It is our wish to pursue an “in attendance” conference and meeting and we do not wish to switch into a fully online one. Perugia (Italy) will be still our venue as previously planned.

The website URL will remain the same to minimize the changes and all deadlines have been simply postponed by one year.

Please check the website www.forams2022.it which has been online for two years now; it contains all necessary information for the time being and will be updated with more pages in the next months.

So far you can explore the venue we have selected, the availability of sponsorships, the organizing and the scientific committees, all deadlines, all open calls, and more things for you to discover!

We remind you here below all new deadlines. Please note that you can already submit your fieldtrip proposal as well as your session proposal. Check the website for more information or contact us by email.

Please, consider becoming a SPONSOR! We already got some amazing Sponsors, but we do welcome more. The more we have, the greater and cheaper will be the event, especially for our young fellow students! Please feel free to contact us for more details and check our PayPal DONATE NOW link.

Please spread this newsletter to all those you think might be interested to join and make sure you are registered to our mailing list! Of course, if you have received this email from us, then you are already on the mailing list, so you are all set to go!

Hope to see you in Perugia in 2023!

The organising Committee:

Antonino Briguglio, Giulia Margaritelli, Cesare Andrea Papazzoni, Maria Rose Petrizzo, Roberto Rettori
